Men ^{and} Families 2022

September
15-16, 2022

Program design by

edgeofthecomfortzone@gmail.com

Welcome

We are honoured and excited to welcome all of you, presenters and delegates, from around the world. This is one of the first government-funded conferences to collectively discuss research, practice, and policy on men's and boys' experiences with violence and victimization. This multidisciplinary conference will also address issues of fatherhood, father involvement, and fathers' relationships with their families.

With two keynote speakers, three panel sessions, and 60 presentations from 21 countries and regions across six continents, we hope this momentous event will be meaningful to you professionally and personally.
